A New Pope Elected.

Cardinal Della Chiesa has been elected pope in succession to the late Pius 10. The new pope will assume the name of Benedict 15. Cardinal Giacomo Della Chiesa, who was Thursday elected pope by the sacred college, was created a cardinal May 25, 1914. He is archbishop of Bologna, Italy. He was born at Pegli, in the diocese of Genoa, Nov. 21, 1854, and was ordained a priest Dec. 21, 1878. He served as secretary of the Nunciature in Spain from 1883 to 1887, in which year he was appointed secretary to the late Cardinal Rampolla. He was appointed sub-secretary of state in 1901, and in 1907 he was elected to the post of advisor to the holy office. In 1907 he was appointed papal nuncio at Madrid in succession to Mgr. Rinaldini, but this appointment was cancelled three days later. This incident occurred just before he was made archbishop of Bologna. When Mgr. Della Chiesa was given this post it was declared in Rome that it was mainly with the object of combating modern religious ideas, Bologna being the headquarters of the national democratic league whose members advocated what is known as "modernism" in religion. In January of 1914 while still at Bologna the present pope issued a pastoral letter strongly condemning the tango. It has been 174 years since the last Pope Benedict. On his election to the papacy in 1740 Cardinal Lambertini assumed that title.

PARALYSIS NOT SPREADING.

While it was deemed advisable by the state board of health as a precautionary measure, that all public gatherings be for a time prohibited and the opera hall and picture house as well as public church services should for a time discontinue, it still remains a fact that there are only seven quarantined families within the entire corporation. Apparently the state doctors are unable to recommend any cure, or any known methods of prevention. One case outside our village looks as though it might have been contagious, while cases springing up miles from the village and among people who have not been near this village, are at present on the ratio of at least twenty to one, against the contagion theory. There is no attempt on the part of the people in Barton to discredit the fact that we have had an epidemic of infantile paralysis in town, but it is a fact that the village has not been entirely afflicted with this disease as the rural districts about us, and it is quite natural that the business men of town are much averse to having this village advertised in the manner in which it is being advertised as the center of a plague district. Since our last issue, there has been just one new case in the village although there have been several cases of indisposition which at first were attributed to this disease. The fact is that if you happen to have a bad cold in your head, or a bilious attack, the first diagnosis may be paralysis.

Studying Infantile Paralysis.

"Health" officers and physicians of Caledonia, Essex, Lamoille and Orleans counties held a conference in St. Johnsbury Thursday to discuss symptoms and treatment of infantile paralysis. Sixty were present. Dr. C. S. Caverly of Rutland, president of the state board of health, Dr. H. A. Ladd of Burlington, state inspector, Dr. C. F. Dalton of Brattleboro addressed the conference, urging great care in the isolation of the disease. We read the following report of the meeting: "The following symptoms are so similar it was said to grip, scarlet and typhoid fever that the greatest caution is essential in investigating and reporting any suspicious cases. There was a general resume of present knowledge of the disease, including known symptoms, each health officer being called upon individually. Special stress was laid upon the need of reporting cases to the board and quarantining the patients, since it is not known how the disease spreads. Many of the abortive or undeveloped cases 'do not bring paralysis, but are able to spread the disease to people who will suffer the paralysis. Vermont is not the only state in the Union which is suffering from the scourge, the disease being prevalent in every state, but more especially in the northern ones. The death rate of 17 lost cases out of 80 is nearly 20 per cent and very high. Many who recover are left crippled for life. Boards of health in many other states are taking the same action of reporting all cases and quarantining, which is being followed out in Vermont in an attempt to arrest the disease."

PORTER H. DALE WINS

Congressman Plumley's Successor Wins on Twenty-first Ballot

Porter H. Dale of Island Pond was nominated as congressman from the second district of Vermont in convention yesterday after one of the hottest fights the district has ever known. It required 21 ballots before Mr. Dale was finally returned as the successful candidate, and it was not until after 10.30 in the evening that the Island Pond man appeared before the convention to make his speech of acceptance.

The convention was opened at 1.30 o'clock with prayer by the Rev. S. H. Smith and the gathering was called to order by Gen. J. H. Lucia of Montpelier, chairman of the district committee. The roll of the convention was announced as 244 delegates. The temporary organization was given out as M. M. Taplin of Orleans, chairman, and O. W. Carpenter of Derby, secretary. The organization was made permanent. The first name presented to the convention for the office of congressman was that of Alexander Dunnett of St. Johnsbury, who was placed in nomination by J. B. Campbell of Mr. Dunnett's home town. H. V. Ames then presented the name of Porter H. Dale of Island Pond and J. Hollister Jackson announced the candidacy of John W. Gordon of the Granite City. The first ballot resulted as follows: Dale, 96; Dunnett, 86; Gordon, 59. Then for 19 ballots more there was no choice. The three candidates kept about the same distance apart. Dale led with Dunnett about 30 votes behind and Gordon about 15 votes behind Dunnett. On the 21st and decisive ballot, the candidates stood as follows: Dale, 130; Dunnett, 80; Gordon, 12. Mr. Dale was declared nominated and a committee was appointed to notify him and escort him to the hall. He appeared at 10.30 o'clock and made a short speech of acceptance. Resolutions were introduced at the convention by former Gov. W. W. Stickney calling for a revision of the tariff along the lines originally laid out by the late Senator Justin S. Morrill. The contest was a hard-fought one, but the result was accepted by the convention with enthusiasm and without bitterness.

Charles I. Collins.

The death of Charles I. Collins, mentioned in these columns last week, occurred at his home here on Wednesday morning, Sept. 2, at shortly after one o'clock. He was taken sick Sunday with what appeared to be the grip, which later developed into infantile paralysis and the end came quickly. He was the son of Curtis and Ruth (Owen) Collins of Irasburg and was born in Coventry 32 years ago. A greater part of his life was spent in his home town and in this vicinity. He had followed the trade of a carpenter for a number of years and was a workman of exceptional ability. Five years ago Mr. Collins married Eunice W. Hunt, with their daughter, Rena Mae, survives him, also his father, two brothers and one sister, all of whom have the sympathy of the community. No funeral services were held at the home on account of the nature of the disease. The burial was in the Welcome O. Brown cemetery Wednesday evening at six, with brief services conducted by Rev. W. A. Warner. The remains were escorted from the house to the cemetery by the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs also by members of the J. W. Munkland shop and the fire company, to which he belonged. The flowers were many and very beautiful, consisting of pieces from the lodges, Barton Fire Department and bouquets from relatives and friends.

Card of Thanks—We, in this way, wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to the friends and neighbors for their sympathy and kindness during our affliction. We would especially thank the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs, also the Firemen and the members of the Munkland shop for their kindness and assistance. Mrs. Eunice W. Collins, Rena Mae Collins, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Hunt.

The freight rate on logs has been advanced so that the tub shop people now pay three times the rate formerly paid, and there is a movement on foot to ask tax exemption for them. Certainly we want to keep this industry here. Let us all get busy.

SURPRISING DAIRY FIGURES.

R. L. Chappel, tester for the Missisquoi Valley Cow Testing association, has compiled the results for the year ending June 1. Herewith are some conclusions drawn from the results. There are 23 herds presented. Eleven of the 23 produced over 200 pounds fat and 12 less than 200 pounds of fat. Those in the 200 pound fat class, or over, were about equally divided among the large and small herds so the production is not a matter of the size of the herd.

The thing that stands out most prominently is the relation of the feed to the production, especially with the grain. The average feed cost of the high-producing herds was $14.43 for grain, and $41.15 for the total cost of feed while in the low-producing herds the grain cost was $7.06 and $32.48 for the total cost of feed. Not only does this indicate that more feed could have been fed with profit to those herds which produced less than 200 pounds of fat but the fact that the three highest producing herds were the herds which were fed the most grain and at the same time were among the herds which have the largest profit per cow. Furthermore, every cow among the ten highest was fed at least $20.00 worth of grain. The average profit from the herds in the 200-pound class was $31.39 gains, $13.94 for the herds in the less than 200 pound fat class or a difference of $17.45.

The difference in the total feed cost of the two classes is $8.67 showing that all the difference in production was not used in feeding and at the same time showing that after a cow has been fed enough to maintain herself she uses the additional feed to the advantage of the owner. There are some herds in the 200 pound fat class with a low grain cost but they are the lowest in that class and the question immediately arises, "Could not these farmers have done better to have fed more grain as well as those herds which produced less than 20 pounds of fat?"

In the 2.35 trot Government Bond was third in 2.14, this horse is close kin to Directum 1 and has the blood of the fastest race horse of the season.
